“ Aunt Betty was so much fun to be around. She always had something to say, a story or an adventure to talk about and remember; at the same time she was making a memory with you. She had a deep faith and a very well used Bible. She needed it once in awhile when she stayed with us when my Mom (her sister had Alzheimer's) would forget things. They would decide to watch a show together and she would get up to make coffee, my Mom would turn off the tv, or get a snack, my Mom would turn off the tv, or use the facilities, my Mom would turn off the tv. I would get such a giggle, my Mom would say, "I don't know why that's on," and Aunt Betty would say, "Shirley, you turned it off again." She told me she had to go pray for patience. They were so cute. They are together again with all the family and friends that went before: the ones that will be waiting for us. Love!

“ Betty was as lovely a person inside as she was outside. She was always very tender and sweet to my mom {her mother-in-law} and me. Those two ladies shared a love for their Savior Jesus Christ that gave each of them strength and peace in life's hard times.

Circumstances were such that we didn't get to see each other as much or as often as we would have liked, but we never doubted her love and concern for us. She and I enjoyed a lot of the same period music; mostly country of-course! We also loved when Steve and his brothers would play their guitars and sing, good times.

We didn't have to worry a lot about things because Betty always worried about each of the family members enough for all of us. She was available for her family anytime needed.

Betty, you are missed already; but we are each grateful any suffering in this mortal body you had to endure is over for you and we know you are smiling and joyous again.

Thank you for the love, Sandra Spann Whiting
