“ Thank you for being such a wonderful grandma to me. Mawmaw, your free spirit and love will be remembered, always. You were strong and assertive and we all needed that. You always did what you believed was right, even in the face of adversity and that is what I looked up to you for the most. I know life was rough and battling your mind was so difficult, especially toward the end, but you still showed true devotion to Christ and to Pawpaw.

Pawpaw, I am so proud to call you my pawpaw. You are so generous with everything you do; in love, in life, and in spirit. I know that the love you shared with Mawmaw is what gave her the strength to continue battling for so very long. I aspire to be like you with Chance. No matter what, you were always by Mawmaw's side. Your faithfulness is a pinnacle to a strong relationship, and it's an example to me of how I should love. I am so sorry for the loss of Mawmaw, but I know you're at peace knowing she is now singing in the Angel's choir. We all know the Lord made us a promise; that we will all be united again, and this goodbye on earth, will be a hello again in heaven. Death may be final here, but it brings new life with God.

I love you, Pawpaw.

“ Alice was such a sweet lady, she was a blessing to us at Red Springs Baptist Church, and how she loved to sing in church. She was loved and cared for by her devoted husband Jerry Null. Praise God she's now singing with God's people in Heaven. May everyone remember Jerry in prayer.
