“ I have so many stories about Chester. One that I like is one Halloween we were sitting having coffee. The restaurant was decorated. The table where we were sitting a candy corn table cloth along with some candy corn. Chester would pour a few pieces out on the table to eat. I watched him eat all he had poured out but he kept trying to pick up a that was part of the table cloth. I said Chester would you like some more.

I know he love to sing about Jesus. We would go to the church a lot of times just so he could sing.

I will miss you my friend.

“ Chester was very talented in many ways. We have a tiny pool table complete with balls and sticks that he carved for us years ago. He was always ready with a smile and a joke.
