“Life is too short to wake up with regrets. So love the people who treat you right. Forget about those who don't. Believe everything happens for a reason. If you get a chance, take it. If it changes your life, let it. Nobody said life would be easy, they just promised it would most likely be worth it.”
— Harvey MacKay

The summer of 1994 is a summer I will never forget. I got my first traffic ticket in Lenney's first car. We sang Snoop Dog songs as we wore only our bras and shorts on our 12 hour drive to Colorado Springs~Oh to be young again! We watched O.J. Simpson's white bronco being chased on national T.V. together thinking "What is going on?" I convinced her to get in the pool at the hotel. Yes she trusted me enough to let me help her onto a raft in a pool where I let us get burned to a crisp! That was the worse sunburn I've ever had! We went to a dance club in Colorado Springs one night. She was so embarrassed when I wheeled her out onto that dance floor and started dancing with her. I told her "These people don't know us!" I didn't even get her off the dance floor and back to our table when this young man asked if he could dance with her. She danced the rest of the night! We cruised up and down Nevada Avenue in the Springs for hours while guys hit on her. Seriously who could resist that long blonde hair and her Drew Barrymore looks? She let me drag her up three flights of wooden stairs so we didn't have to wake up her brother Sammy and us both get into trouble! She had all kinds of splinters in the back of her legs! I'll never forget all the laughter, secrets and late night talks we had that summer. Leeney was truly a free spirit. She'll always be one of a kind. Every time I think about her I giggle and wish I could go back in time and re-live just an hour or two of that summer. Without her I wouldn't have those fleeting thoughts.

Thanks for the memories Leeney.

~Forever,
