“ Jay and Lil and I were great mates in Cairo, playing a thousand hands of bridge. I remember Vicki well, also. I still wear the St Christopher medal she left me in her will. Mike, too, I remember - mostly on the Christmas he got his motor bike and the year he played in "The Ransom of Red Chief". I have missed both Jay and Lil for years - in fact, ever since 1971 when I moved away from Egypt. Sincere condolences to Mike and Joe.##imported-begin##Gail Brooks##imported-end##

“ Visits from Jay and Barbara were always a treat for me. The office lit up with their lively conversation. It often took precedence over the business of the day. I still have their gift of a small clip-box made of carved wood and shell. I see it every time I use my computer and think of them often. “ Our condolence to the family of Jay Krath. You have lost a wonderful father and friend.

Pinki and I first met Jay in Cairo, Egypt in 1969. Jay was a class individual. A kind gentle person with a cheery personality that commanded the respect of all who met him.

He will not be forgotten.##imported-begin##Pinki and Ike Herrick##imported-end##
