“ There are no words that can convey the loss I feel from losing my only Cousin. Jessie and I go back a long ways. He came into our lives when we were all kids. He use to come down and work for my Dad during the summer months during summer school breaks. We all use to do some crazy things, and he was always so much fun to have in our lives. He adored and idolized my Dad. He never really had a Dad or Mom that truly loved him, so he looked at my Dad as his Dad. We were always happy to share him in our family. We missed a lot of his life once he got married and we didn't get to see him often. However, he would still come and visit my Dad. After my Dad got very ill, we were all kind of reunited and became close again. Him, Brenda and I became the Three Muskateers. We spent many an hour at Brenda's home and went to many flea markets. We love to go out and eat together. I am going to miss him terribly. One of my favorite memories of him, Brenda and I were when we were trying to figure out who would be in heaven waiting for the other. We always thought it was be Jessie waiting on Brenda and I, then myself and then Jessie and I would be waiting on Brenda. Well we were all so wrong, Brenda left us to be with the Lord long before Jessie did. I miss her and him so much now. He was a truly good friend and Cuz.....lol... May you rest in peace Jessie and I will see you and Brenda soon. Love you... Your Cuz.

This tribute is touching. I know God's neighbor girl He gave to Jesse loved him very much. She always had kind words to say about him, even telling us though their house too small, they couldn't leave their neighbor, Jesse.

To All Who Knew Him,

The first weekend in March of 1999 while walking through the Will Rogers Car Show in Ft. Worth I stopped to look at a wonderful example of a 1969 Roadrunner sitting next to the stage. Little did I know the lifelong influence that little pause in life would create. As I stood there staring at the car a gentleman approached me and said "what do you think young man". There are times that flash by in your life and you never even notice but the way he talked to me was if he had know me since birth. The next two hours were spent talking about cars, music, fathers, family, and numerous other topics.

The next six years of my life was spent going to shows, going camping, and in general being very close most of the time. I found out about his passing in the most profound way and to say I hit me hard would be an understatement. We drifted apart about ten years ago and the void I felt then, I feel again today.

I will forever think of the time I spent with him and the influence he has in my life. The world has lost a man who touched my life more than words can describe and I am sure that I am not alone.

My prayers go out tonight for all those who will miss him and I will be among those.

*Forever in My Thoughts,
God Bless
Lee Wallace*
