“ Morning Will Come

*Brokenhearted...
How can I bear the pain?
So many plans...permanently interrupted.
So many dreams...shattered.
Hopes dashed. All gone.
Why? Why this? Why us? Why me?
Helplessness...hopelessness...
Life will never be the same again.
Is it even worth living?
Where are you, God?*

*I'm right here beside you, my child.
Even though you may not feel my presence,
I'm holding you close under the shadow of my wings.
I will walk with you through this dark night.*

*Do not shrink from weeping.
I gave you tears for emotional release.
Don't try to hide your grief.
Let it become a source of healing.
A process of restoration,
For I have planned it so.
Those who mourn shall be blessed.
I'LL BE HOLDING ON TO YOU,
Even when you feel you can't hold on to me!*

*Seek my face, child of mine.
Receive my promise, impossible as it may seem now,
THAT JOY WILL COME IN THE MORNING.
It may take much time, but I will heal your broken heart.
I know the night seems endless, but MORNING WILL COME.
I have promised!*

Jordan was a sweet young man. He will be greatly missed. I know the pain and the aching in your heart that only a parent who has lost a child can know. This poem was giving to me many years ago and I know it is true! God is there holding each one of you even when you can't feel him. And even though the why's may never be answered, Joy does return and lives are changed and blessings can come from sorrow. I will be holding your whole family up in prayer during these difficult days and the days to come.

I am so sorry for your family. I had not seen Jodon in a while, he is very goodlooking. Losing a child is the worst thing a parent can go through. We are suppose to go first. There are no words to tell you, that will make you fill better. There is not a day goes by, when I do not think of Trey, and it has been 10 years. The hurt is still there, and my family circle is broken, One day when we are all in heaven my circle will be whole once more. Love to all. I will be thinking of you. Debbie
