“ I met Sue in 1972 when she worked at Richland College. She was such a wonderful co-worker and friend. I loved her since of humor and wit and enjoyed working next door to her office. She was such a joyful and happy person, and I still talk about her all the time these 42 years later. I loved hearing her stories about Clay--she loved that boy. Her face would light up when she talked about him. I was so pleased to reconnect with her on Facebook. I had her back in my life and this made me very happy. She made such an impression on people. I loved her dearly.
