“ A good memory from English class.... English was not my forte at the time, and Mark sat next to me in class, noticing my struggles. He would voluntarily explain what I was looking at, whether it was taking a test, trying to create a sentence, figure out a syntax, or construct something involving a verb, adjective, or adverb. Mark was instrumental in teaching me patience, and taking the time to learn something. He was like that in Baseball and other endeavors. Today, I have Mark to thank for the book I have published, "Leaving A Legacy, Jesus Christ and Others." It can be found on Amazon. Classmate and Friend of Mark W Hicks Dr David L Clifton
