“ It must be difficult, beyond any words, to go through your days without her. I used to be a nurse practitioner with pediatric neurosurgery patients, and unfortunately had to give bad news to several parents with similar stories as yours. I would then come home and embrace my child a little harder, pay attention to his smile a little closer.. I can't even imagine the heartbreak, all I can offer is my deepest sympathy and prayers for peace and understanding for you and your family. May The Lord be with you today and always.

“ Yesterday, I went to a fb page that linked me to Phoebe's page and for the next three hours I just devoured both page and blog, crying, smiling, and mostly admiring the beautiful princess and her amazing family, then it hit me that it was her 1month anniversary and I cried as if I had lost my own. The Lord does work in mysterious ways and I know I was guided to this page for a reason. I had lost my ways and had to be reminded of what really matters in life and I have you Phoebe and your loved ones to thank for showing me the way back to Glory! Thank you, May the Lord be with you, love from Ida Swindell “ Beautiful child, beautiful angel. Your video you posted of her singing Jesus to her daddy made me so sad. She was so sweet and loving. My sister passed away at the age of 9 after a 7 year battle with leukemia. She would be 20 this Dec. she was my hero and always will be, as I'm sure your little Daughter is to you. It's so hard to think of life without her at first, you are just going thru the motions. Anger, sadness, fatigue, despair, confusion, are just a few emotions you will get to know unfortunately. But, somehow you still go on living even when you feel as though you can't. Eventually, you replace all the emotions with memories. Memories of the good times, the bad times, the laughs the smiles, the tears. You learn to hold them so very close in your heart. Those memories are what will get you through your day sometime. This is how my life is and has been for the last 11 years since my sister earned her angel wings. I pray for strength for you and your family. I pray that you can find comfort somehow in the many memories of your precious daughter. I pray that her smile will always be present in your mind. i pray you can always hear her voice loud and clear in your ears. I pray you will always feel and remember her soul. Because it lives on inside of you. For you carry her heart inside your heart. This poem by EE Cummings has brought me tremendous comfort on the days I feel so useless and afraid. It's called I carry your heart, I carry your heart inside my heart. I encourage you to read it. I know you do not know me, but I was so truly touched by the story and journey your family has gone through. I felt a connection and just wanted to share my thoughts and condolences. She is in the arms of the angels now. Made she find some comfort there. Thinking of you. Lynn Branscome and family from Lakecity Florida

“ I am so very sorry for your loss, your little girl is so beautiful her story has broken my heart. What a strong and loving little one, so young, so adorable. May god help you and your family with the hard journey ahead and may Phoebe's light shine down on you and give you peace. Phoebe has gone home and is free of pain, Jesus has her in his arms and will love and keep her warm until you are reunited with your little angel.

Love and hugs, prayers and strength is being sent you way from Australia

“ In honor of Phoebe, even though I never knew her personally I felt like she was my family, I have followed her story since day 1. She has brought strength and courage to people that were never blessed to know her personally. Only God knows how many lives she touched through him. I can't imagine the suffering you must be enduring. But rest assured she is in Heaven with God and running and playing in Heaven, and putting on that lip gloss. How she must miss her family. So I will continue to pray for your family in honor of Phoebe. Sending hugs, much love, and prayer!

“ I'm so sorry for your lost, I accidentally saw your page "Praying for Phoebe Fair" and I can't stop crying while I read your stories.

My father raise me, he gave me everything I am and everything I need. Four years ago my father was diagnosed (Glioblastoma, IDC-O 9440/3, WHO grade IV), at first doctor told me he was going to live 2 moths, and I couldn't understand that, I can't describe my pain, he was 47. I was in lawschool and left, for caring my dad's treatment, he lived 1 year and 5 months more. Now, mi dad died two years ago, and I can tell you guys, Its going to be hard to stand up, now you must think you will never ever do, but your going to, I swear. My dad is with me every day of my life, I dedicate all my study, my goals, and my peace to him, and I know he's going to wait for me where he is, Phoebe will wait for you too. There's nothing more peacefull to her, that seein you guys happy and together.

*Tiny Angels rest your wings sit with me for awhile.
How I long to hold your hand,
And see your tender smile.
Tiny Angel, look at me,
I want this image clear...
That I will forget your precious face
Is my biggest fear.
Tiny Angel can you tell me,
Why you have gone away?
You weren't here for very long...
Why is it, you couldn't stay?
Tiny Angel shook his head,
"These things I do not know...
But I do know that you love me,
And that I love you so".*

“ Our middle of the night talks and laughs about wafflewiffers an wuzzles, singing songs slow then the next line really fast and loud, little camp diddys about bed bugs and skeeters having a ball game, playing angry birds and listening to Phoebe giggle every time my bird hit the ground and I'd gasp, "Oohh!." doing a puzzle at the blood lab and chatting about life, me panicking before church when Nathan yelled and I thought we were late, so I grabbed Phoebe, ran out of the house, and jumped in the van with her, only to realize I forgot all her medicine!! At least I remembered the most important part. :) Praying over her with annionting oil in the hospital while she slept. Massaging her feet with oil and praying to help her relax as her therapist came. The incredible 4th birthday party with the carnival!! That long strong hug she gave me when I left, it was like she was saying good bye and I love you to me. Praying every night over her till she fell asleep, and the fun we had rubbing the good smelling oil to outline her scare. Cheerios and corn chips- I'm worse now with the late night snacks than ever!! So many little memories. I did not know Phoebe for very long at all, but I am so blessed and fortunate to have gotten to know her during the eight months of 2013. She will always be a part of me, and I'm sure as I preach, there will be times I will mention Phoebe in my sermons. Her life will always be imprinted on mine...

“ I have followed your story for awhile now and was so sad to hear that phoebe had died, I know no words that can bring you comfort, there is nothing I can do or say that can take your pain away. There is only one thing I know for sure in this life that I can say to you with firm belief, and that is as Christians we have the blessed knowledge that there is life after death with Christ our saviour. You know in your heart that today phoebe is with our lord, she is standing on streets of gold with no pain or suffering in her body. She has been made whole again by the blood of the lamb. I'm so sorry that this healing could not have taken place on earth so that she could have stayed with you, but who are we to question Gods reasons, and he must have had a plan in place when he decided to take her home. I think he will reveal that to you over time as I feel he has great plans for your family to do a lot of good from this pain and heartache you are suffering. I feel you will help many people come to God through phoebe s story, and she will be a blessing to others as she is to you. I pray Gods peace and understanding over you, so that he may reveal his plans , I pray he wraps you in his loving arms and cradles you while you grieve.. Phoebe will always be with you as she's a part of you, and you have a gift that many in this world have yet to gain, knowledge that your child is not in the grave but with Jesus , imagine how hard it must be for people that don't have this truth. I know at this time nothing can help and of course you'd rather her be with you, but if she can't be with you then at least you know where she is couldn't be better. I send you all my love and condolences.

“ Phoebe, about two months ago I stumbled onto your prayer page, when it showed up in my suggested pages on Facebook. You and your family have since touched my heart so deeply. Phoebe I am certain you have touched more people in the short time you walked this Earth than most people do in an entire lifetime. I still remember the day I read the following excerpt from your prayer page. I was so astonished by your great wisdom and strength at such a young age. I will never forget these words...never!

(Phoebe: "God loves us. God loves us and God is not a meanie."

Me: "That's right Phoebe, God loves us very much."

Phoebe: "And I am not afraid, say it Mom, say "I am not afraid."

Me, teary-eyed: "I am not afraid.")

Thank you Phoebe Fair for sharing your wisdom, thank you for sharing your strength, thank you for sharing your love, thank you for sharing your life..

Do not stand at my grave and weep,
I am not there, I do not sleep.

I am the gentle autumn rain.
When you wake in the morning hush,

“ Phoebe and the family have been such an inspiration and encouragement to many of us here at American Beacon Advisors, American Airlines and American Airlines Federal Credit Union in Ft Worth and all our friends and families. We all feel like she was a part of our family. We are sadden but at the same time rejoicing that she is home with Jesus and not suffering any more. Our prayers will keep going for Amey, Nathan and the boys. We love you all very much and are so blessed that you came to each of our lives. What an encouragement and inspiration you are to all of us.

“...and she and your family are loved and remembered from afar by so many with whom you shared this journey of love and faith during such a difficult struggle. I am changed for the better forever. If only this included Phoebe recovering it would be complete in a different way. She has been and will always be a gift to everyone. I don't know how many people realize yet that not only are they changed for the better, but this will cause them to be different in the world, sharing that difference with their own families and the strangers they meet. When I say that Phoebe and the message of love and faith and strength all of you have given to us is a gift; it is so much more than what we feel now. It is an ongoing gift that will change many far into the future as those directly changed reach out differently to others. And that is not putting it too strongly at all.

“ We didn't know Phoebe personally, but she did become a part of our every day. When we learned of this precious girl we made her a part of our prayers all day every day. She was part of our conversations with my husband and I all the time. We would talk about this very strong and courageous little girl to our family and friends. We would share in the good things and in the sad things. We then soon came to realize that she wasn't just another little girl with cancer but a little girl who gave us hope and courage to fight our own daily battles with life. We figured if this brave little one could face a journey of such uncertainty and still have a smile, a laugh and most important to us FAITH then our trials and tribulations were minimalistic in comparison. You will live in our hearts FOREVER Phoebe and thank you for bringing us closer to God and giving us Strength, Courage and again most important Faith. rest in peace little angel. May God give your family strength, comfort and peace during this difficult journey. In Jesus Name. Amen. Love, Prayers and Strength Stacey and Tim Hofflander of Elkhart, IN.

“ I've never met or even spoken to your family directly, but somehow landed on Phoebe's Facebook page over the summer. She stole my heart from the start; your family's love and faith inspired me. I cheered for Phoebe anytime I read of a little victory, and cried anytime I heard she had had a bad day. I sincerely wish I could have gotten the opportunity to meet Phoebe - if she could inspire me so much through Facebook, I can't even imagine what it must be like to be in her presence. May your family grieve and heal peacefully, and may Phoebe fly high with victory - as she touched the lives of many, though her years were few. Sending all of my love from Orlando, Florida.

(John 5:28, 29) Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice 29?and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of life, those who practiced vile things to a resurrection of judgment.

(Revelation 21:4) And he will wipe out every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore. The former things have passed away.”

“ I only met your sweet Phoebe Fair a few weeks ago on a FB post. I felt such a connection to her and all her family and it was no accident that she appeared on my FB wall. That was part of God's plan for her - to spread her joy, her love and her sunshine as much as she did! She brought a sweetness and so much love with her when she was born, and so much of that and all the beautiful memories you have of her will carry you through the tough times to come.

Because so many people met her and grew to love her amazing smile and wonderful curly hair and bright eyes, she will never be forgotten - EVER! Knowing she has gone home to live with God and fly with the angels is, of course, God's comforting message given to you, but when you find yourselves missing the touch and feel of the child you loved so much, hugged so often, sang to and prayed over without cease know it will just take whatever time it takes, before you can begin your lives again, minus one very special angel.

I found her name - Phoebe Fair - to be almost a magical name and that is how she will stay in my memory. I wish I could have known her personally, but she gave so much to so many who never had that chance and you can know she touched and changed a very great number of lives, including mine. May God shower you with blessings she gave to all who ever heard of her. My heart breaks for you, and for myself too, because she seems too soon gone. In God's great plan, her time of leaving was just as it was meant to be. One day you will find yourselves laughing or smiling without first pausing to think of her. That is one of the healing gifts God gives you - the freedom to go on with your lives on earth, knowing she will be with you every moment. Your lives will be forever changed, but there is still the joy in knowing what she brought with her that will remain here. You are all blessed and so loved - again by so many you'll never meet! Thank you for sharing Phoebe Fair's life with all of us.

“ As I sat here and watched the video the tears began to roll down my cheeks and I here Phoebe's voice saying T, I wipe your tears. I have so many stories with her I do not know where to start. My favorite story is Phoebe had her special way of hugging people. I loved when she said T, you can hold me Okay. She was truly an Angel and I do believe God missed her and called her home. Even though I was not ready to see her go, I know she had to go to Heaven and be with Jesus. I will miss her sooo much. Our special little angel..

my heart was torn in two,
one side filled with heartache,
the other died with you.
I often lie awake at night,
when the world is fast asleep,
and take a walk down memory lane,
with tears upon my cheeks.
Remembering you is easy,
I do it everyday,
but missing you is heartache
that never goes away.
I hold you tightly within my heart
and there you will remain.*

*We little knew that morning,
God was going to call your name,
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.*

*It broke our hearts to lose you,
You did not go alone.
For part of us went with you
The day God called you home.*

*You left us beautiful memories,
Your love is still our guide,
And though we cannot see you,
You are always at our side.*

*Our family chain is broken,
and nothing seems the same,
But as God calls us one by one,
The chain will link again.*

Cherish every moment, even the moments when you're exhausted and stressed and the kids are making a mess. These are life's joys! I think of her often. She was a beautiful little girl. She has touched my heart in more ways than one.*

“ I never met Phoebe in person, but was blessed to have heard her story only a week or so before her passing. She was the most beautiful and courageous little girl I have ever seen and tears of sadness were shed at the news of her passing.
