“ Raelee and I are 18 years apart, so I have always felt like more than just a cousin to him. I considered him my nephew along with Harley. It's so hard to believe he isn't with us anymore, but God was ready for him and called him Home. I am sad because he won't be with us for awhile, but I am grateful to know that I will see him again one day. A part of him lives in all of us, and we will carry that with us until we are called Home. I was the only grandchild for a long time. The moment those two boys entered my life its been such a blessing to share with them both the love and adventures that I experienced at their age. I love them both like they are my own. Prayers to Heather and Corey as God takes them through this trial. Richard and I love you both.
