“ Rex and Geri where two of the first people we meet in Lindale when we where looking for a home. It was either Christmas Eve or Chritmas day we where looking at homes and I went to there house and Rex took me and my wife to the house. I felt bad about showing up at such an Inoportune time. Rex was so nice to allow us to view it. He said several times it was fine. Needless to say we purchased the home and love it. Rex was a very kind and generous man. He will be truly missed.

To Geri and family may God give you peace and comfort in your time of morning. The memories you've had with such a great man will last a lifetime.

“ Rex was a great man. He will truly be missed. Rex has hung wallpaper for me for at least the last 10 years on many different jobs. He was always so kind and so professional. I am building a new house for myself now and when Jimmy comes to hang my wallpaper, I know that Rex will be shining on us from up above. May God bring your family peace that passes all understanding during this difficult time. Prayers for you all.

“ *Much love and comfort to Geraldine and the entire family for this great loss -- Rex was an amazingly optimistic person and he could always be counted upon. His smile kept us all propped up: I mean, who could possibly have a bad day when Rex Lee was around? Dennis has often repeated the story of Rex thinking firstly of others before himself when he served in Vietnam during the Battle of Hue~ Our hearts are with your hearts,
