“ Sue is my oldest sister and has been a constant in my life for 75 years. At times I felt like she was mother figure due to the difference in our ages. I always knew Sue as a strong, loving, religious woman. I remember when I went to stay with her in the summer, I always hated for her to put my hair in a pony tail because it would be so tight. She always treated like her baby sister even when I was grown. My most favorite memory was the last time she came to Lubbock and all my sisters were sitting on the couch taking about their youth and the things they did, and all the giggles coming from them. I can still see the smile on her face and her laughter. I will cherish that memory. Also when I married my husband at age 52, Sue was worried for me as she was afraid he was after my money. She worried until she met my husband and got to know him, then she told me that she was proud of my choice and knew we would be happy together. I valued her advice and loved her so dearly. I know she is in a better place laughing and giggling with our mother. Sue loved Jim so much, and you could see it in every glance or touch. What a blessed life she had for so many years.

“ My grandmother was a wonderful person, a compassionate soul and gifted story teller. She gave my sister and I the joy or reading and exploring the world through literature. She may have gone to rejoin the Lord but her impact will not be lost from the world.
